TIGERS TIE BUT LOSE ON FIRST DOWNS

Special Session May Last Longer Than Is Expected

By JOHN G. DIETRICH
United Press International

LOUISVILLE (UP) — The two measures to be considered by the special session of the General Assembly which convenes next Monday so far have produced neither banner-winning support, nor visible opposition, but there may be some sharp questions asked before adjournment.

That adjournment may not come as quickly as Gov. Bert Combs and other administration leaders hope, either.

One legislator, a veteran who has been prominent in the leadership of both House and Senate, remarked, "It may take longer to get these folks out of Frankfort than it did to get 'em in."

For one thing, he pointed out, 51 members of the House—one more than half—won't be back when the General Assembly convenes for its regular session in January. They either were re-districted out of their seats, got beat in the elections, or didn't choose to run.

"I hate to say it," the legislator said, "but that $35 per diem is important to some of these folks and they hate to give it up any sooner than they have to."

Sacrifice for Some
He added, "Of course, attending a session actually is a sacrifice to some members, but they're in the minority."

As for the measures themselves, the member said, "I haven't seen any legislation yet. I don't know what's in the bills, and I guess none of the other members do, either."

One of the measures would raise the statutory salary limit on salaries of Court of Appeals judges and commissioners of circuit judges. It also would provide for nonpartisan ballots in judicial contests.

The other would provide a system of compulsory annual inspection of motor vehicles.

"I haven't heard of any organized opposition to the judicial bill," the member said.

Plan For Model Penal System Is Presented To The Governor

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UP) — A four-year plan costing more than $11 million has been presented to Gov. Bert C. Combs as a means of developing a model penal system in Kentucky.

The outline was contained in a 28-page report handed Combs by the task force he set to work last spring reviewing the outmoded state prison and correction system.

It reportedly called for six new facilities and remodeling of existing ones at a cost of between $10-11 million and the addition of 120 employees to the state Department of Corrections, with the cost of this not estimated.

The task force was headed by Commonwealth's Atty. M. R. Mills of Madisonville.

Among other things the task force called for a construction of a separate institution to house youthful offenders at an estimated cost of $6 million.

Other major construction projects included:

Building of a 250-man farm colony complex at Eddyville at a cost of $650,000 and a similar complex at La Grange at a cost of $730,000.

Development of three forestry honor camps for 156 prisoners, $250,000. Renovation of open-wing dormitories, administration and two annexes, making the latter three into a reception and diagnostic center for 150 men at a cost of $485,000.

The report said the biggest curse on the prison program in the past resulted from "inadequate money and partisan politics of the most damnable kind."

It recommended the new employees be distributed in a manner that legislator said, "but I assume the bar association will be for it, and I'm sure the judges will be pushing it."

Will Ask Questions
Although he said he did not oppose the measure itself, "I think I'll have some pertinent questions to ask, just to stir things up a little. For example, how can they justify raising judge's salaries in the middle of their terms? The Constitution says you can't."

He added, "and another thing—how can you justify appellate judges? The statutes say such increases have to be enacted before May of the year in which they are elected. But I imagine a way will be found."

An official of the Louisville Automobile Club who last week said the group would favor a system of state-operated inspection points, indicated today that it would not necessarily oppose the bill proposed by the administration because it calls for licensing of private garages as inspection points.

"State operated inspection would be better," said James Brown, executive manager of the automobile club, an AAA affiliate, "but that might not be possible, especially in sparsely settled parts of the state."

Brown had a question, too, asking "But why the rush? We feel there should be a thorough study made by some legislative committee before any action is taken."

The governor found support for his special session call from what was, for him, a somewhat unusual source—Associated Industries of Kentucky AIK.

The AIK's official publication, Aetcon in Kentucky, said Friday in its editorial, "It is most pleasant to find that the final major action of Gov. Bert C. Combs is one that we can endorse—the special session of the General Assembly."

One group considered certain to line up behind the inspections law is the Kentucky Automobile Dealers' Association.

would provide five top-level officials in Frankfort office of the department, employment of 41 additional prison guards, four additional psychologists, employment of 22 additional academic and vocational teachers and fulltime chaplains at both La Grange and Eddyville.

Additional personnel would be added to the division of Probation and Parole.

Mills termed the report as what the task force "thinks has to be done." He said, "There is not a recommendation in it that is not immediately necessary."

Asked if what he thought of the chances of getting it done, he replied, "We are optimistic."

In addition to the construction program and the additional personnel the task force also had other recommendations.

They included an expansion of the prison industries program and the doubling of the present rate of pay for working convicts from 8 to 16 cents per day. It suggested that five cents be set aside daily in a fund for use when the man was released.

It also suggested that an incentive pay program be developed which would provide excellent workers with 50 cents per day, of which 15 cents would be put in the "going home" fund.

The report noted there was a "surprising lack of professionally qualified and trained personnel" throughout the prison system and said this must be eliminated immediately.

It suggested that as a means of taking the program out of politics, all employees except the commissioner be put under the Merit System.

Fair Weather Moves Away

By United Press International

The high pressure area that provided Kentucky with fair weather the last couple of days has moved off the East Coast and is now pushing increasing amounts of moisture into the Ohio Valley from the Gulf of Mexico.

Over the Central Plains of the United States a low pressure system is developing and is being watched carefully as it has the potential of a very large storm system.

With the combination of increasing moisture from the Gulf of Mexico, the state with scattered light showers becoming cloudy with rain over all of the state on Sunday.

Monday's outlook: Partly overcast and turning colder.

Snow Blankets Part Of West

Four inches of snow blanketed parts of Nevada and Utah today. Sections of the East were still feeling the effects of a tenacious drought.

The reservoir at Columbus, Ohio, was at its lowest point in history, and authorities said water rationing might be imposed on the city of a half million by mid-December.

Rainfall is nine inches below normal at Columbus so far this year. The weather bureau reported a 4-inch cover of new snow on the ground at Ely, Nev., and 3 inches of new snow at Salt Lake City.

The bureau said in its 30-day forecast that sub-normal rainfall is expected for the upper Mississippi Valley, west Gulf states and Southeast and Northern Plains, and warmer than usual readings were forecast for the Great Lakes region, the Northeast and Southwest.

A wind-whipped fire threatened Monhegan Island, Maine, Friday night but was brought under control after sweeping several buildings.

About 150 fire-fighters partially controlled a blaze near wind Cave National Park, S. D., Friday night after it burned across up to 1,500 acres. The park is in the southern Black Hills in western South Dakota.

The 1963 hurricane season came to an official end at mid-night. For the second straight year the U. S. mainland was not seriously affected by a tropical storm.

The weather bureau said, however, this was the most disastrous hurricane season on record for the islands in the Antilles group, especially Cuba and Haiti.

White Fire Truck Repaired This Week

A broken crankshaft was repaired in the big white fire truck this week according to Fire Chief Flavio Robertson.

An investigation of an odd noise in the white truck revealed that the crankshaft was broken. It was found Monday and fixed by Wednesday night Chief Robertson said.

A factory mechanic came to Murray and when the trouble was located had a new crankshaft dispatched from Grayville, Illinois and it was installed.

Chief Robertson said that the truck was out of Monday through Wednesday, but is now in operating condition again. The cost of the repair was estimated at about $900.

NO DRIVER TESTS

There will be no driver's license test given on Monday November 18. The next tests will be given on Monday November 25.

Four Schools In Graves May Consolidate

A new consolidated high school to replace high schools at Wingo, Cuba, Farmington and Sedalia has been proposed by the Graves County Board of Education.

Plans for the new school, drawn by architect Lee Potter Smith & Associates, call for a cluster of five buildings connected by covered walkways.

The board proposes to build it on a 70-acre site it has optioned near the geographic center of Southern Graves County. It is on the Wingo-Sedalia Road, half a mile from the intersection of the Cuba Road, just west of Lebanon Church.

The board estimates the cost of the school at around $1,000,000. It includes facilities for teaching the usual academic subjects, plus home economics and commerce, a complete vocational shop and science laboratories.

Unsurpassed Facilities
The school would also include a large library, administrative offices and a gymnasium.

School officials said the plant would offer educational facilities equal to any in the area, as well as many new possibilities.

The school would accommodate up to 600 students in the top four grades. The present high schools in the affected communities would be converted to elementary and junior high schools.

School officials feel the location of the new school near the center of its area would simplify transportation problems and shorten travel time for many students.

Broader Athletic Program
Consolidation would enable the system to broaden the athletic program for students in the southern part of the county to include football, track and baseball, said the board.

The consolidation would leave three other community high schools in the county, all in the northern part—Symsonia, Fancy Farm and Loves.

Cooper Opposes The Sale Of TVA

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. John Sherman Cooper said Friday that he opposes the sale of the Tennessee Valley Authority or any proposal to break up or dismember it.

The Kentucky Republican's comments came in response to a "revised plan" by Sen. Barry Goldwater which would allow private utilities to bid on TVA's power facilities only after state governments in the TVA area have had a chance to submit bids.

The Arizona Republican and front-running candidate for the Republican nomination last said that he is serious about his suggestion that the project be sold to private interests.

Cooper, in disagreement, said, "TVA serves a useful purpose—for it is a good yardstick. I do not believe that any proposal such as that made by Senator Goldwater will be approved by Congress."

Morton Declines To Enter Primary

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Thorton B. Morton of Kentucky joined Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado today in declining an invitation to enter Maryland's Republican presidential primary next May 19.

No response has been received yet from eight others who received the same invitation this week from David S. Sullivan, Maryland GOP chairman.

Morton, who is viewed as a possible compromise candidate in case of a convention deadlock, assured Sullivan he would not be a candidate for national office in 1964. He said he felt his chances were so remote that he had discouraged friends from promoting him as a candidate.

A former Republican national chairman, Morton also said that as chairman of the GOP senatorial campaign committee he is expected to remain neutral in contests between Republicans.

Allott, who has agreed to be the "favorite" candidate of the Colorado delegation to the GOP national convention, said Thursday that he had declined Sullivan's invitation. He said he would not actively seek the presidential nomination.

Others invited by Sullivan were Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Sen. Barry M. Goldwater of Arizona, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Gov. George Romney of Michigan, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon and Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio.

Crittenden County Rockets To Get Shot At State Meet

The dazzling speed of Coach Bill Huff's Crittenden County Rockets proved to be too much for the Tigers of Murray High School last night in a playoff match to determine the winner of Class A Region One in high school football.

The game ended in a tie ball game, 14-14 and the Rockets took the championship on first downs, 16 to 14.

Rule call for first downs to determine the winner in the event of a tie, and there was little doubt in the minds of both the Crittenden County fans and the loyal following of the Murray High Tigers who had won the game, even with a 14-14 tie.

Dennis Mott, Rocket halfback and James Hopper were simply unstoppable last night as they ripped off yard after yard. Time and time again Hopper, who seemed to personally the Rockets, seemed to be ejected from a jet as he plunged through the Murray High line for seven, eight and nine yards.

It was all on the ground last night with the Crittenden attack as they relied on the Mercury footed Mott and Hopper to turn the trick. The Tigers took to the air at times, but a good defensive effort on the part of the Rockets nullified the attack.

The game last night ended the season for Murray High, which holds a 10-1 season record and a 10-2 overall record, including the game last night. The Rockets have an 8-2 season record and a 9-2 overall record. They will go into the state semi-finals next week to meet Shelbyville who won over Old Kentucky Home last night 20-6.

Murray marked up the first touchdown last night after a scoreless half had put fans on edge.

With 9:30 left in the third quarter Don Faughn went from the 32 to the Rocket goal line for the score. Ben Hogancamp ran over the extra point to make it 7-0.

With 11:20 left in the final quarter Dennis Mott scored for Crittenden County from the four yard line. Hopper ran the extra point.

Murray scored again with 6:45 in the game when Hogancamp blasted over from the one foot line and then added the extra point.

Mott added the second Crittenden County touchdown from the 19 with 3:00 minutes left and Hopper added the extra point to tie the game 14-14.

Murray made a desperate effort to mark up another TD in the final three minutes of the game. The Tigers took the ball on their 29 and Faughn tried to pass, but found no one open and moved to the 32. Faughn tried another pass but this was no good.

On the next play Faughn made a beautiful run to the Crittenden County 30 yard line and the hopes of Tiger fans rose as the clock moved swiftly to the 1:08 mark. After four attempts however the Tigers failed to gain much ground and lost the ball on downs with about 10 seconds left.

There was no doubt that Crittenden County was "up" for the game. Early in the second quarter Little Dennis Mott got excited as they received a Murray punt and picked up the ball on his own 30 and ran the length of the field for a touchdown which did not count. He shook off Tiger after Tiger to make his thrilling run that did not count.

Murray had a brilliant scoring opportunity in the closing minutes of the first half when they received on their own 29 and with four quick first downs Faughn, Hogancamp and Lee moved to the Rocket 5 yard line.

Four attempts failed to dent the Rocket line however and Murray lost the ball on downs with 1:10 left in the half.

Pans could not help but notice the second attempt made by Harry Weatherly and Don Lee as they attempted to take in the passes of Faughn. Either the pass was not exactly true or excellent defense robbed them of catches.

This was particularly true of a long pass into the end zone in the closing seconds of the game when Lee had a good pass broken up by the Rocket defense.

It was a bitter note for the Tigers to be in possession of a 10-1 season record and tie the playoff game, to lose it on first downs. However they played an outstanding ball game last night and put forth all the effort at their command.

Murray — 0 0 7 7 — 14
Crittenden — 0 0 0 14 — 14

Murray, Faughn and Hogancamp scored TDs. Hogancamp ran both extra points. Crittenden, Mott made both TDs, and Hopper scored both extra points.

The Murray High Band made the trip to Marion last night and performed at halftime. Last night's game was the final appearance for twenty seniors on the Murray High team and a number of players in the Murray High Band.

United Press International PARIS — Beaten off in 1776 and again in 1812, the British once more today are getting ready to invade the United States. Don't start rummaging in the attic for grandpa's squirrel rifle or try to cram all those excess dead pounds into your old Army uniform. Tell the lads in Lexington to stay behind the plow and the pirates of Bourbon Street can continue their freebooting against New Orleans tourists. This invasion is aimed strictly at the big, fat Yankee dollars being put up on the U.S. pro golf tour. The gold will be dug with a wedge as attracted a number of tee tourists over the past few years, of course. England's Henry Cotton gave it a go followed by such as Bobby Locke of South Africa, Peter Thomson and Australia and, of late, such as Gary Player and Retief Goosen of South Africa. Bob Charles of New Zealand and Bruce Crampton of Australia.

To Join Rush Now the men of the British Isles are on their way to join the biggest gold rush since '48. Competing in the Canada Cup at the moment are such as Bernard Hunt and Neil Coles of England, Dave Thomas of Wales, George Wills of Scotland and Christy O'Connor of Ireland and have signified their intention of starting right in with the Los Angeles open in early January. None of them are overly optimistic that they can rush right in and replace Arnold Palmer as the year's leading money winner. But, considering that Palmer has won some $130,000 in 1962 with probably another $30,000 in "unofficial" winnings, they just can't resist the lure. Bernard Hunt, the six foot, two inch 200-pounder from London summed it up quite succinctly. "Naturally, I hope to do well," he said. "But at least by taking a crack at the U.S. tour I hope to improve my game to the extent that I may do better when I return to England than I did in 1962."

The irrepressibility of the U.S. Jackpots — with $25,000 and $50,000 top prizes in some events, can be appreciated when you consider that Hunt was Britain's leading money winner this year with earnings of $19,000. If they want to make a success of their invasion, however, they have two major weaknesses to overcome according to Fred Corcoran, tournament manager of the International Golf Association. "Their greatest weakness is their short game," analyzed Corcoran. "They just don't chip and putt with the U.S. players. Take Thomas, if he could learn to chip he'd win a lot of money. But that leads to their second weakness. They simply won't practice enough. They figure they're practicing when they play a round. They won't hit balls hour after hour on the practice tee."

They also must learn to "charge" like Palmer, he ascertained. "They aren't aggressive enough," added Corcoran. "It isn't enough to feel you're a winner. You've got to go out and run at the field with your chin stuck out."

Player, the little South African who proved his aggressiveness by taking the PGA crown and becoming one of the top money winners, tipped the whole hand when he said: "At those box car figures I'm going to play in the U.S. as long as I can swing a club."

So the British figure to cut a piece of the pie, too.

GAME AND FISH FLOWN TO NEW HOMES

"Two recent examples of attempts by biologists to establish game bird and fish populations through trans-planting of native North American species, says the National Wildlife Federation, are the transposing by all of 13 live-trapped Idaho ruffed grouse to a liberation site in northern Nevada and the stocking of some 2,000 fingerling striped bass from California in several Nebraska lakes.

Lakers Win Third Game In A Row

The winning ways of the Calloway Lakers continued last night with a 72-66 win over Hickman County.

The terrible thing about a falling leaf fixation is that the leaf falling season is so short. Soon they will all be gone, leaving long, bleak months of nothingness ahead.

It is possible, of course, to hire someone to climb a tree and toss down some confetti, but it wouldn't be the same.

While waiting for the next leaf to fall, leaf watchers occupy the time with musing and meditation.

I normally meditate upon what a shame it is for all of those leaves to go to waste.

Over the years there has been a lot of talk about using the great tides of Passomquoddy Bay as a source of useful energy. Well, it occurred to me that there might also be a way to harness the energy produced by falling leaves.

Has Possibilities

It is true that a single leaf doesn't produce much energy, but when you consider the millions of leaves that fall each autumn you can see the possibilities.

I also meditate on ways to make use of leaves after they have fallen. Leaves burn well, so why couldn't they be compressed into briquettes and put on the cookout market in competition with charcoal?

If someone wants to try that, I know where they can pick up a lot of leaves—cheap.

Another bright potential is the use of leaves as a breakfast cereal. Crumpled up in a bowl with a little cream and sugar, they would make a mighty appetizing looking dish.

Leaves might not be nutritious or flavorful, but that is no drawback. Almost every cereal you buy nowadays has nutrition and flavor added.

Finally, labor unions perhaps could use leaves as a substitute for featherbedding.

I trust that someone in authority will get to work on this right away. Autumn leaves can save the world!

Colts Lose First Game Of Season

Ronnie Aldridge was high for the game with 29 points for Cuba. He was followed closely by Andy Colburn who scored 28 points and Danny Sutter with 19 points.

Leaf Watching Is Now Sport For Writer

By DICK WEST

United Press International

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the comic strips I read has a dog named Snoopy who spends his time watching leaves fall from trees. I should never read comic strips.

Their power of suggestion is so strong that now Snoopy's got me doing it. In fact, overdoing it. The plain truth is that I have become addicted to leaf watching.

Once a person gets hooked on something like this, it is almost impossible to kick the habit. Moreover, he must try to conquer it alone, there being no organization, such as falling leaf watchers, anonymous, that he can turn to.

And no matter how hard he might try to hide his weakness, little tell-tale signs will give him away.

Sure Sign

If you have a friend or relative who stands out in the yard at night with a flashlight hoping to see one last leaf fall before bedtime, you can be certain that he's a snorer.

Herbie Phelps Is Held Scoreless By Shebyville

by United Press International

Herbie Phelps can be stopped!

The Shelbyville Red Devils proved it Friday night while besting previously unbeaten Old Kentucky Home 20-0 and capturing the Class A, Region II high school football championship.

It was the first time in two years that the sensational Old Kentucky Home fullback has been held scoreless. He set a state high school scoring record this season with a total of 292 points, eclipsing the record of 282 points he made last year.

Old Kentucky Home wasn't the only unbeaten team to bite the dust in regional playoffs.

Owensboro met the same fate in the Class AA Region I Friday night, being toppled by powerful Caldwell County 14-7.

Caldwell County crew thus remained undefeated and carries an 11-0 record into its semifinal showdown with Lexington Lafayette next Friday night at Princeton.

Lafayette bumped Elizabethtown 13-0 Friday night for the Region II title and ran its record to 11-0.

The other semifinal in Class AA competition next Friday will pit Cumberland, Region IV king, against Fort Thomas Highlands, Region III titlist, at Fort Thomas.

Cumberland was held to a 7-7 tie by Jenkins Friday night, but earned the semifinal berth by having a decisive edge in statistics against its mountain foe.

The Class AAA championship will be decided next Friday in Louisville's Fairgrounds Stadium when Waggener, which roared past Southern 26-0 Friday night.

By its victory over Old Kentucky Home, Shelbyville advanced to the Class AA semifinal against Crittenden County, which tied Murray 14-14 Friday night but won a statistical decision. The Shelbyville-Crittenden County contest will be held next Saturday afternoon at Shelbyville.
